Currency exchange can be made at bank counters within the Suvarnabhumi Bangkok International Airport arrival hall, or at banks in Bangkok. We advise that you obtain enough Thai Baht to pay your taxi fares to hotel and keep some as pocket money.

To come to the hotel (see details and map attached on the last page), it is advisable that you take a "meter taxi" at the booth immediately outside the airport arrival hall. Please inform at the taxi booth that you are going to "Sukosol Hotel". The destination will be written down on a taxi service stub which also indicates the name of your taxi driver. Please retain this stub with you (for safety reason). The taxi fare you have to pay is as much as what is shown on the meter plus Baht 50 service charge and the toll way fee. Normally, the taxi fare from the Airport to the Sukosol Hotel is Baht 400 ±, varies to traffic situation.

Alternately, the Airport Rail Link may be used. Details are as the follows:

Airport Rail Link: Located in the ground floor of the Suvarnabhumi Airport is the Airport Rail Link to Phya Thai Station (terminal station). From the Airport, commuters can reach Phya Thai Station on the link's SA City Line in 30 minutes (stopping at six stations) for Baht 45. The Sukosol Hotel is around 5 minutes' walk from Phya Thai Station (see map below). For more details, please go to: www.bangkokairporttrain.com
