We, the agriculture ministers,

invite FAO, OIE and International Livestock Research Institute (ILRI) to collaboratively promote the international consultation on sustainable, responsible and efficient livestock production systems, and to develop good practices, based on integrated assessments, intergovernmental processes and multi-stakeholder consultations; we call upon them to identify knowledge gaps, to initiate respective research and to make knowledge available to farmers and the public; we encourage them to include other relevant actors such as the International Food Policy Research Institute (IFPRI), the Global Research Alliance (GRA) and the Global Agenda for Sustainable Livestock (GASL) and to report to the GFFA Ministers

Thank you for your attention
