WHY LIVESTOCK MATTER

Nutrition Health Economic Opportunity Gender Climate & Environment

WhyLivestockMatter.org brings together a showing how livestock contribute to global sustainable development goals. It also points to actions and decisions with this evidence to improve livestock productivity for people around the world, including tackling the health risks around unsafe meat consumption.

The site was launched by the International Livestock Research Institute and its development partners. As well as this effort to GLAD research centres, the project engaged different stakeholders and communication channels from many sources. The GLAD project engaged in these efforts to address its impacts, the project and partners developed a learning tool to strengthen advocacy efforts.
